"Zip-Line" is a charming children's book written for young boys and girls that had open heart surgery and are left with a "zip-line" - a large scar on their chest. Written and illustrated by the father of a baby girl who had open heart surgery at 6 months of age, this heart warming rhyme book whimsically explains the answer to the question "How did that line get there?". Beautifully illustrated, "Zip-Line" sets a model for children to be comfortable with themselves, their scar, and the surgery that they were too young to remember. With an estimated 20,000 pediatric open heart surgeries each year in the United States, and nearly 70% of those performed on children under one year of age, this story helps raise awareness of Congenital Heart Defects (CHD) and provides all children with a simple positive message: "So ask me and I'll tell you my story and my name, and though we might look different there we're otherwise the same." www.ziplinebook.com There will always be secrets. There have always been secrets. Sometimes the secrets are there because our knowing minds just don't want to remember. Sometimes we don't want to go there period. Some of my life has been like that but I have been blessed with an amazing memory from age two and a half forward with very rare gaps. I constantly hear I wish I had your memory. Would life be easier if I didn't remember? Maybe but it wouldn't come near the rich to overflowing life I've had. What's Your Zip Code Story instructs class-migrants (whether college students, recent graduates, or overlooked employees), how to climb the career lattice and transform themselves from undervalued employees to respected leaders. This book tackles challenges that class-migrants and business leaders encounter regarding workplace class bias. "A girl discovers adventure at every highway turn. After Lyssa's mother dies, her kind but clueless new stepfather moves with her to the suburbs of Seattle in the hopes of making a fresh start. But Lyssa feels lost and adrift in the rainy Northwest without her mom. And when she finds out that her old house in Texas is about to be bulldozed, something snaps inside her. Fiercely determined, Lyssa climbs onto her scooter and sets off cross-country to save her home--
